MARKET FOCUS

In every market segment in which it operates, Reply combines specific sector expertise with a broad experience in the provision of services and a wealth of advanced technological capabilities.

AUTOMOTIVE

The automotive sector is undergoing a profound evolution, driven by recent technological and environmental changes: electric propulsion, increasingly intelligent, connected vehicles and autonomous driving are the new paradigms of mobility over the next few years. In this context, Reply is contributing to the transformation of the entire supply chain, supporting leading manufacturers not only in production and logistics/distribution activities, but also in the evolution of in-vehicle services, through the design and development of advanced connectivity systems.

Reply confirms its leadership in the logistics and production areas of the automotive sector, implementing integrated projects that cover the end-to-end supply chain: from the logistics of raw materials and finished products to shop floor control, and from production and material planning to quality management, without forgetting transport and aftersales distribution. In particular, Reply has expertly combined, in a holistic vision of the sector, proprietary expertise, tools and technologies – such as LEA Reply (logistics) and Brick Reply (manufacturing execution system) platforms – with ad hoc solutions developed based on the cloud and edge computing paradigms.

On the connectivity front, Reply is engaged in the development of V2I (Vehicle-toInfrastructure) connectivity platforms, as well as actively studying and prototyping new end-to-end architectures based on edge computing technology to manage the next generation of in-vehicle integrated services. Another important area of specialisation, with several projects under way with leading players in the sector, concerns the development of autonomous driving systems, quality assurance solutions (e.g. remote vehicle diagnostics) and new types of integrated services in the smart city landscape.

In addition, Reply is applying its consolidated expertise with blockchain technology in the automotive sector, with the aim of improving vehicle maintenance processes, aftersales fraud control and vehicle recall campaign management. Lastly, Reply is actively engaged in the increasingly important e-commerce segment, with projects designed specifically for the automotive sector that integrate data-driven marketing solutions and 3D showrooms, allowing users to create customised real-time configurations of the cars and to perform virtual test drives enabled by AR/VR.

ENERGY & UTILITY

The Energy and Utilities market is undergoing a profound transformation, thanks to its key role in achieving global climate neutrality. Indeed, government plans for decarbonisation, particularly in Europe and the USA, are driving operators towards a major overhaul of the way energy is produced and distributed, with a strong push towards the adoption of renewable sources.

All major operators have launched industrial scale technological innovation projects, with the aim of becoming increasingly flexible and resilient.

Among the technologies and platforms available and adaptable in the energy sector, cloud computing is currently the most widespread solution amongst operators while IoT, on the other hand, enables the development of monitoring processes, optimising operations and activating new services and models for interaction with customers.

2021 also saw the growth of investments in advanced analytics, artificial intelligence and edge computing. These investments aim to improve the efficiency of renewable energy production (e.g. wind and photovoltaic farms) and to develop new business models in the energy management field, especially in the industrial context.

In this scenario, Reply is one of the reference partners for the sector, thanks to its profound knowledge of the market and its ability to design, implement and manage innovative digital solutions and vertical technological platforms, in particular leveraging expertise and solutions in IoT, big data, advanced analytics, data governance and the cloud. These are skills and expertise that Reply has relied upon to implement international-scale projects for leading operators in the sector, ranging from energy and demand management to the management of new mobility and electric car charging services, smart metering, smart grid, asset management and renewable generation solutions.

FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS

The innovations brought about by specialised players such as FinTechs and InsurTechs mean that continuous investments need to be made in the creation and updating of digital channels that support all aspects of the relationship with customers, both commercial and transactional. New products integrating connected services and hardware are gaining the market's favour, particularly in the insurance sector.

Thanks to its acknowledged expertise in the design and implementation of digital channels in the banking and insurance sector, Reply has gained a distinctive positioning in Europe in this context. Indeed, the announcement of the partnership with Nexi for the creation of the Nexi Digital competence centre is part of the innovation path initiated by the Group in areas such as advanced payment, open banking, blockchain, cryptocurrency and digital asset systems.

Reply is supporting financial institutions in their journey to substantially increase their use of cloud solutions, with the adoption of hybrid architectures and the continuous innovation and migration of legacy systems. Cloud-based artificial intelligence solutions are demonstrating great potential in terms of improving the efficiency of operations, with increasing investments in intelligent process automation platforms that simplify internal processes, particularly those relating to back office and customer onboarding.

The Group also boasts extensive expertise in Governance, Risk and Control (GRC) and Wealth and Asset Management. Reply's teams support financial institutions in their compliance needs and in the adoption of new business models, including when it comes to the strong push by the market and by regulators towards sustainability and environmental protection. The Group's consolidated experience in advanced consulting models has been complemented by a growing expertise in the design and implementation of robo-advisory solutions aimed at customers and financial advisors

MANUFACTURING & LOGISTICS

Digital transformation has become an integral part of industrial processes, revolutionising not only production, but also the end-to-end supply chain: from procurement to logistics, and from sales to maintenance. Production plants are being transformed into open and flexible ecosystems, capable of also managing communication flows and the distribution chain better, thus generating a virtuous mechanism capable of minimising costs and maximising results.

Reply collaborates with leading European industrial groups in the sector, accompanying them in this complex transformation process that covers a range of different areas. These include supply and purchase management; the design and implementation of control and planning systems based on the new generation of cloud-based ERP, MOM and MES solutions for the planning and control of production processes and integration with supply logistics networks.

The Group's planning and control expertise has been increasingly complemented by knowledge on product lifecycle management, with particular attention to the connected products sphere.

Alongside its extensive capabilities in the implementation of vendor suites such as Oracle, SAP and Microsoft, Reply has enriched its portfolio of solutions in the Industry 4.0 realm, thanks to its proprietary Brick Reply (MES) and Axulus Reply (Industrial Internet of Things) solutions.

Markets is experiencing a significant disruption in supply chains – also due to the impact of the ongoing pandemic – with the consequent need to rebuild them in a more resilient and digitised manner. In this context, Reply is supporting companies from different sectors with initiatives that have not only enabled new ways of managing just-intime, industrial shipping and last mile (e.g. e-commerce) processes, but also the adoption of electric and autonomous vehicles in intralogistics contexts, together with a growing use of robotics and the Internet of Things.

Reply has confirmed its logistics expertise in various sectors including the automotive, healthcare and food industries, where the Group has specialised in the management of logistics flows of raw materials, fleets and automated warehouses. Following the latest market trends, the Group has broadened its horizons, engaging in areas related to the sustainability and decarbonisation of supply chains, omnichannel solutions and the evolution of the different ways of working in logistics and transport.

Reply's expertise in the logistics area has been recognised by several analysts, including Gartner, which included the LEA Reply platform in the "Magic Quadrant for Warehouse Management Systems 2021". The features introduced on the platform during the year concerned new services to support the retail market, and in particular dark store and instore operating processes that leverage algorithms optimisation to improve supply chain efficiency. The Group's various studies and implementations on advanced wearables, computer vision and drones also continued.

GOVERNAMENT & HEALTHCARE

Reply is continuing to support national and local public administrations in managing the Covid-19 pandemic, both from a management point of view and in the healthcare sector. After supporting government and healthcare agencies in the monitoring and tracking of infections and in the organisation and management of vaccination campaigns, the Group is now operating in countries where plans for recovery from the economic crisis have been launched, playing the role of a technological partner in innovation, sustainability and resilience initiatives.

In the healthcare and pharmaceutical sectors, Reply's portfolio of products and services has complemented traditional expertise in cost optimisation, process digitalisation, management of medical equipment and logistics, with solutions based on artificial intelligence.

In 2021, Reply strengthened its offering of services and products in the reception and telemedicine realms, anticipating the technological and organisational trends of the new hospital-territory healthcare ecosystem and improving the efficiency of patient journey processes from a connected care perspective. Reply is promoting the adoption of the One-Health model (integration of data collected from people, animals and the environment to establish new diagnosis and treatment processes), working to connect technologies and applications from sectors parallel to healthcare, such as the pharma, genomics and bioinformatics research fields.

RETAIL

Reply is supporting leading European players in the implementation of integrated strategies spanning the online and physical networks. The demand for increasingly 'phygital' experiences has led to several projects in the master data management space. The aim of these projects is to harmonise information about end consumers, products and services, thus providing new insights and KPIs useful for measuring the effectiveness of the various initiatives, as well as identifying areas where the existing offer can be enhanced.

Reply has been involved in numerous initiatives concerning the migration of e-commerce systems to native cloud platforms. In these contexts, the success factor was characterised by the ability to provide technological solutions capable of breaking down business capabilities into re-combinable services, thus enabling the implementation of increasingly sophisticated and channel-independent forms of relationships and sales.

Reply has stood out from the crowd for its ability to design truly omnichannel architectures, taking full advantage of the offer of the various cloud platforms and creating real-time order management and inventory solutions.

The Group also supported retailers in reviewing their organisational processes. Reply's profound knowledge of the dynamics of this sector have been instrumental in achieving the transformation and enabling the necessary intra-departmental coordination mechanisms. These capabilities are becoming increasingly important in order to effectively support retail customers towards international openness and experimentation with the new B2B2C and 'consumer to consumer' relationship models that favour growth and a reduction of the time to market.

TELCO & MEDIA

In the Telco market, lower operating costs and the introduction of new service lines have led to an organisational tension which, in many contexts, has spilled over and is affecting economic performance. Thanks to its consolidated expertise in the Telco field, Reply is supporting leading European operators in optimising their technological solutions and the investments needed for the implementation of new generation networks. In the 5G realm in particular, Reply has developed a diverse offer portfolio, based on innovative use cases and the ability to work on the unbundling of networks.

The Group is also supporting large network operators in the development of cloud based and edge computing solutions. For example, in addition to satisfying companies that use the services and that are able to benefit from technological and economic advantages in terms of a reduction in data transmission latency and costs, public cloud solutions also support business processes in ensuring compliance with local data privacy regulations. These solutions allow companies to reap the benefits of the public cloud, without the need to assume the complexities involved in managing their own private cloud.

In the Media sector, publishers are reacting to the deep crisis experienced by traditional channels, which is paving the way for the development of new digital solutions and products that can meet new customer preferences.

Thanks to its profound knowledge of the Telco world, Reply is supporting leading European players in the Media sector towards the convergence of offers, contributing to the design and implementation of new bundles consisting of fixed/mobile broadband connectivity, value-added services and premium editorial and/or television content.

TECHNOLOGICAL INNOVATION

Technological innovation is the basis of Reply's growth. The company has always pursued the objective of providing its clients with the tools they need to increase flexibility and efficiency. Reply is involved in a continuous process of research, selection and marketing of innovative solutions for sustaining the creation of value within organisations.

CLOUD & EDGE COMPUTING

Cloud computing has established itself as the infrastructure standard in all the markets in which Reply operates. The Group has developed significant expertise in supporting companies towards the adoption of solutions relying on Microsoft Azure, AWS, Google Cloud Platform and Oracle Cloud Infrastructure as a Service (laaS) and Platform as a Service (PaaS). This cross-functional expertise has allowed Reply to support customers in a growing number of multi-cloud and hybrid implementations, where on-premises systems and cloud services are seamlessly integrated into the user experience. The Group has also confirmed its strong architectural capabilities and an ongoing commitment to optimising investments and operating costs.

Its consolidated experience in designing and managing the complexity of multi-cloud solutions has led Reply to develop the CAFFE methodological framework (Cloud Adoption Framework for Enterprise). Thanks to this structured approach, Reply customers can build their Cloud adoption journey and define an efficient operating model with a set of tools that enable the automation of cloud services.

In addition to offering 24/7 operational support services for cloud infrastructures, Reply has significantly expanded its products and services offer with advanced models that take advantage of the edge cloud, distributed cloud and edge computing technologies, to support Telcos and leading industrial groups.

These approaches make it possible to design solutions that offer low latency and a high degree of security/ privacy, with immediate benefits in the local processing of data, connected to artificial intelligence, machine learning and high-performance computing solutions made available by cloud providers.

At the application level, Reply has adopted the Software as a Service (SaaS) model as its main solution in the development of specific platforms for customers in different industries such as banking, telco, automotive, insurance, energy, retail and healthcare. This approach is complemented by the significant expertise in customising platforms offered by vendors such as Salesforce, SAP and Adobe in different areas, including omni-channel sales, data-driven marketing and industrial and logistics solutions.

CYBERSECURITY

Alongside cloud computing and artificial intelligence, cybersecurity has established itself as one of the top priorities for the market. The growing number of attacks – both in the industrial and in the consumer sectors – combined with the significant increase in connected devices driven by the success of IoT technologies, makes it necessary for businesses to invest continuously in the prevention, detection and management of incidents.

The activities conducted by Reply for its customers range from the definition and implementation of security and risk management policies, to the development of predictive models, operational cybersecurity monitoring activities, incident management and threat intelligence. Reply has partnered with leading vendors of cloud and legacy security solutions; it is also active in monitoring innovative start-ups and participating in open source initiatives.

Among the areas that have seen the most significant growth in recent years, the IT security of industrial plants and logistics systems is of particular importance and is one of the main areas of study in Reply's new Cyber Security Lab. In this context, Reply has invested in frameworks to strengthen the test phases of connected industrial devices, attack interception and response, including through the adoption of artificial intelligence and machine learning techniques.

AUTOMATE EVERYTHING

The hyper-automation paradigm is becoming increasingly pervasive, particularly in the business context. Indeed, the drastic changes in the way we work brought on by the pandemic have contributed to a growing interest in robot process automation and intelligent process automation solutions by different sectors, from banking to insurance, and from telco to energy.

Automation technologies are used in the development of solutions based on the principles of 'Low-Code' and 'NoCode'. The ability to take advantage of the opportunities offered by the adoption of Alpowered software development techniques, is in fact bringing greater efficiency to the activities conducted by developers – both for Reply and its customers – in the coding, testing and software deployment phases.

Al-powered data automation is being used more and more by Reply teams specialising in machine learning, to improve the efficiency of data preparation and the identification and sharing of insights on large databases. In this context, Reply is supporting customers in evolving their business intelligence and analytics platforms in this direction, making it possible to obtain data and information that is increasingly accurate and valuable for business development, operational management and cybersecurity.

Another area experiencing a strong automation acceleration is robotics. Alongside the modernisation of industrial robots, the emergence of autonomous mobile robots enables companies to obtain benefits in terms of logistics optimisation, building management, plant safety and the protection of workers. Reply covers all the various design, programming and training phases of software and artificial intelligence algorithms that give life to robots, as well as the implementation of cloud-based architectures such as the one developed on the Microsoft Azure stack for the management of Boston Dynamics' Spot robots

DIGITAL EXPERIENCE

In a world filled with stimuli and in which relationships are often mediated by interactive screens, it is imperative for companies to be able to establish a solid relationship with their audience. To address these trends, Reply helps customers to design and implement a customer journey filled with experiences, using innovative technologies and an in-depth knowledge of the human experience on digital channels.

Moreover, the use of artificial intelligence algorithms enables the creation of a richer and more personalised digital experience thanks also to the greater ability to understand, analyse and anticipate customer behaviours, as well as to implement more effective customer engagement actions.

With its consolidated expertise in the design and implementation of marketing automation and CRM platforms, based on the partnership with leading players such as Salesforce, Adobe, Microsoft and Oracle, Reply specialises in developing digital communication solutions and campaigns aimed at increasing engagement, reducing friction points and improving mutual knowledge between company and customer, with great attention paid to privacy and data security. Reply combines this expertise with the support offered to large multinationals and companies operating in different sectors in building an active and responsible presence on social media.

Alongside the design and implementation of digital platforms in various industries – from banking to energy, insurance and telco – Reply supports the proprietary Sonar Reply, Pulse Reply and China Beats solutions designed to help marketers monitor the international market and track marketing and branding KPIs, as well as the Discovery Reply digital asset management platform.

In 2021, Reply was listed as a leader in Gartner's global 'Magic Quadrant for CRM and Customer Experience Implementation Services 2021'. This prestigious milestone recognises Reply's consolidated expertise in creating customer experiences that integrate CRM, Sales, Service, Marketing and Data Analysis components, joining the numerous other recognitions obtained by Reply agencies in designing integrated and unique digital experiences for brands.

CUSTOMER INTERACTION

The strong shift towards digital channels marked the development of relationships between customers and companies during the limitations imposed by the global pandemic. The gradual re-openings subsequently saw the emergence of increasingly hybrid models, characterised by a strong omni-channel focus of the purchasing experiences and new communication and interaction interfaces, both at a commercial and at a customer care level.

Reply has launched international competence centres dedicated to studying new interfaces, designing the best user experiences and subsequently implementing front-end systems and integration with company systems and artificial intelligence engines. Starting from its broad expertise in the mobile interfaces realm and in advanced ecommerce models, the Group has managed initiatives involving the adoption of virtual reality, augmented reality, wearable, touchless and voice interfaces in the B2C and B2B spaces.

Alongside the growing number of implementations and prototypes in areas related to the metaverse, Reply has seen a renewed interest in conversational systems, with a significant increase in platforms and algorithms for the management of chatbots, shopping assistants and digital assistants. Indeed, conversational systems are evolving, both in improving the interaction with the user, and in analysing their style and manner of conversation, to offer an increasingly personalised service.

Reply's expertise ranges from the design of new interfaces, to the integration with customer Al analytics and the creation of omni-channel frameworks. The goal is to build data-driven experiences in which interfaces can autonomously interact with the user. In the case of customer care services, for example, the aim is to ensure the complete resolution of problems, while human operators remain active as a point of escalation, with complete visibility of the interaction that took place up until that moment.

HYBRID WORK

After the solutions deployed during the 2020 lockdowns to facilitate remote work and social distancing, companies are adopting a more structured approach, taking advantage of the technological opportunities available and proactively managing the temporary restrictions on the mobility of customers, employees and sales networks. In recent months, Reply has supported client companies in the design, development and adoption of advanced collaboration and communication tools, which combine the improvement of individual productivity and the effectiveness of teams, regardless of their physical location.

Collaboration and communication solutions are designed by prioritising the adoption of cloud-based tools, which can be used seamlessly by employees whether activities are carried out in the office, on the move or at home. Moreover, thanks to the analysis and management of possible security issues resulting from hybrid working methods, Reply is also supporting companies in the adoption of advanced cybersecurity solutions and of platforms offered by leading vendors in the desktop/mobile management space. The Reply offer incorporates the experience gained on productivity tools included in digital workplace suites offered by leading vendors, integrated with hardware/ software enablers based on artificial intelligence. Intelligent process automation, in particular, is gaining ground as a tool to bring the potential of artificial intelligence and machine learning into the daily lives of workers, by speeding up and simplifying their activities.

Reply is continuing the development of proprietary platforms such as TamTamy Reply, aimed at maintaining and evolving social relationships and training activities, on-site as well as remotely.

In parallel with its technological offer, the Group companies specialising in training, internal communication and human resources development have expanded their portfolio of services aimed at promoting employee engagement and continuous learning.

5G & COMMUNICATION INFRASTRUCTURES

The growing number of connected objects, both in the consumer and industrial sectors, enables innovative business models on the one hand, whilst making significant investments in connectivity necessary on the other. In the Operational Technology (OT) space, in particular, the use of drones, robots, autonomous vehicles, connected machines and augmented/virtual reality components requires not only highly reliable connectivity, but also minimum latency and high security/privacy of the data transmitted.

Reply is collaborating with leading European operators to tackle the medium-term scenarios in which companies will experience a radical change in their communication infrastructure, with the creation of fully wireless enterprise W-LANs, designed to provide a connectivity that is always available and highly reliable. These dedicated and specialised communication networks will not only carry data and perform traffic control to connect and manage network nodes and devices, but also code and algorithms.

The line between OTT and public telephone operators will be increasingly blurred. Indeed, the consolidation and maturation of 5G networks will see an affluence of corporate mobile private networks: bubbles isolated from public networks with high service standards managed by so-called digital operators. The new players will support Telcos with specialised offers, guaranteeing connectivity services optimised for the individual building, the single machine or the specific application.

INTERNET OT THINGS

The Internet of Things is one of today's most important technological trends. In fact, use cases cover the adoption of connected technologies in the corporate, consumer and public sectors. The rise in the number of connected platforms leverages, on the one hand, the increasing availability of services by large cloud providers and, on the other, the increase in innovative devices and sensors, both at the industrial and the domestic level.

At consumer level, 'connected products' have been the common thread of the evolution of Reply's offer. The Group is supporting its customers in the launch of new products natively equipped with connected services, in particular in the smart home and smart mobility sectors. The IoT solutions designed and implemented by Reply are characterised by a 'security by design' approach, complemented by highly usable interfaces and innovative service models.

The Industrial IoT has affirmed its crucial role as the linking element between the Industry 4.0 models, thanks to the analysis, predictive and forecasting capabilities enabled by cloud and edge computing technologies and supported by the growing availability of sensors and 5G networks. The projects carried out by Reply primarily concerned large customers in the manufacturing, energy, automotive and logistics sectors. Lastly, the use of connected robots and drones has been successfully implemented in warehouse management and plant safety solutions.

Reply continues to invest in IoT innovation, both by evolving its connected platforms such as Ticuro Reply, and through various studies in the smart city space.

Innovation on the Internet of Things is also guaranteed by the monitoring of the start-up and scale-up markets carried out by the Breed Reply incubator, which has continued its selection and investment activities in B2C and B2B companies specialised in IoT and operating in different industries.

LOOKING FORWARD

Reply considers research and continuous innovation to be fundamental assets in supporting its customers as they adopt new technologies. The crisis linked to the global pandemic appears to have speeded up many significant transformations in target markets, in customers and in society as a whole. Thanks to the creation of international competence centres, Reply monitors the market constantly in order to identify emerging technologies and business opportunities and to anticipate the leading engines for the creation of tomorrow's business value.

METAVERSE

Reply has launched several initiatives to support its customers in tackling the heterogeneous mix of technologies and the new operational and organisational methods needed in order to position themselves on the leading metaverse platforms. The main areas of development include 3D modelling, 3D reconstruction of environments, avatar creation, non-fungible tokens (NFTs) and other assets based on the blockchain infrastructure and on virtual, augmented or mixed reality technologies.

The metaverse approach dictates that companies need to rethink the traditional communication paradigms, today predominantly asynchronous on the web and on social media networks. The metaverse is accelerating the displacement of interaction into the synchronous and real-time communication space.

24 | Half year financial report at 30 June 2022

The self-representation of users through avatars involves not only the creation of a 3D model that depicts them, but also the secure and centralised storage of everything that represents them in the digital world: their assets, NFTs, payment instruments, personal data, and the artificial intelligence model built on top of these.

Reply has consolidated expertise in all the core elements of the metaverse – artificial intelligence, blockchain and 3D in real-time – combined with the international experiences gained with Reply Game Studios in the gaming area and in the development of customised 3D applications and AR/VR/ MX in the business world. This means the Group is an increasingly important point of reference in helping customers from different industries to orient themselves in these new worlds and to be able to seize the opportunities offered.

QUANTUM COMPUTING

Quantum computing is the technology with the highest potential in reaching the processing peaks required by today's increasingly powerful artificial intelligence and machine learning systems. In fact, the evolution towards the so-called 'general artificial intelligence' necessitates instructing and training complex machine learning models in a reasonable length of time and with a high degree of accuracy, but also remodelling the algorithms based on the – sometimes continuous – changes in input data.

Reply is supporting large European groups in the adoption of 'quantum-inspired' algorithms. This approach makes it possible to anticipate the future benefits of a mass implementation of quantum computing technologies in specific contexts, such as workforce optimisation and other use cases where a high number of variables need to be combined to obtain timely answers that can be used in daily business management activities.

Other studies followed by Reply concerned the railway sector, where Quadratic Unconstrained Binary Optimisation (QUBO) was used. This is a solution designed to describe optimisation problems that can be solved through quantum technologies. Particular interest was also identified in the finance sector, where complex areas such as investment banking can benefit from accelerated computing to obtain insights from huge databases and input sources with an extremely high refresh rate.

MOBILITY EVOLUTION

The transport sector is undergoing a significant transformation, linked primarily to the development of 'Mobility as a Service' offers. This paradigm is emerging not only based on new consumption models, but also thanks to the technologies that make vehicles more environmentally efficient and connected to roads and smart cities. The changes are also affecting public transport, an area where Reply has launched various projects and studies with different operators, carrying out projects related to the new sustainable and smart mobility.

Attention to the environment is translating into the electrification of all vehicle categories and the optimisation of their life cycle. Batteries are also an area undergoing strong innovation. Indeed, Reply is working on cloud-based models in which Internet of Things solutions monitor and optimise battery consumption, extending their life and generally improving the efficiency of the vehicles using them.

At a technological level, the high availability of software and hardware on board the vehicle makes it possible to improve its safety, efficiency and maintenance. At the same time, the gradual diffusion of high-capacity networks such as 5G is enabling a significant number of support, entertainment, payment and interaction services.

New business models see specialised players working alongside historic vehicle manufacturers, and the latter radically renewing their catalogue and digitising their business processes.

GREEN TECHNOLOGY

Reply has long been committed to making its operations as sustainable as possible, with a primary focus on reducing the Group's ecological footprint. Also, thanks to the increasing sensitivity of its customers, Reply has embarked on a path focused on the definition of its project management and code development methodologies based on the principles of energy efficiency and a reduction in the potential waste of resources, especially energy.

Indeed, ICT is currently a significant area when it comes to energy consumption. The global push towards digitalisation, accelerated by the pandemic, is expected to lead to a further increase in data centre consumption, also due to the diffusion of new energy-intensive activities such as training complex machine-learning algorithms.

Cloud migration is an opportunity for companies to make their systems 'greener', given that many large vendors are acquiring a big part or all of their energy needs through renewable sources.

The increasing use of connected devices – for example in the Industrial Internet of Things – makes it necessary to optimise energy consumption at the level of a single sensor or connected terminal. Even at software level, writing optimised code can bring benefits in the reduction of the ecological footprint. In this scenario of transformation, Reply has created an international working group with the aim of developing the necessary skills and expertise to be able to adopt, in a significant manner, the use of green computing and green coding both internally and during collaboration with customers' development teams.

Interim financial report 2022

Financial Review of the Group

Introduction

The Half-Year report for the period ended June 30, 2022 has been prepared in accordance with the Legislative Decree. 58/1998, as amended, and the "Regolamento Emittenti" issued by Consob.

The Report also conforms with the requirements of the International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRS") issued by International Accounting Standards Board ("IASB") adopted by the European Union and has been prepared in accordance with IAS 34 – Interim Financial Reporting.

Trend of the first half

Since the start of the year, the Group has recorded a consolidated turnover of €889.7 million, which is an increase of 24.8% compared to the same period in 2021.

All indicators are positive for the period. In the first half of 2022, consolidated EBITDA of €144.4 million compared to the €119.5 million recorded in 2021 and corresponds to 16.2% of turnover.

EBIT, from January to June, was €122.9 million (€96.0 million in 2021), corresponding to 13.8% of turnover.

Pre-tax profit, from January to June 2022, was €108.7 million (€98.7 million in 2021), corresponding to 12.2% of turnover.

As regards the second quarter 2022, the Group's performance was also positive, with consolidated turnover for the period of €448.8 million, up by 24.5% compared to 2021. EBITDA, from April to June 2022, amounted to €73.6 million, with EBIT of €65.2 million and pre-tax profit of €49.3 million.

As at 30 June 2022, the Group's net financial position was positive for €165.7 million, while at 31 March 2022 was positive for €279.7 million. The financial position at 30 June 2021 was positive for €165.4 million.

The first half of 2022 was very positive, both in terms of revenue and margins. In recent months we have seen a continuous growth in investments by companies in two main areas of innovation: artificial intelligence and cloud.

In particular, the revolution linked to the introduction of artificial intelligence is at the beginning of a growth path that promises to be explosive. In a short time, we will have artificial intelligence for everything, just as today we have a mobile app for every need.

What is going to happen in the next few years, will be incredible. Today, the availability of very high-speed networks makes it possible to develop applications never before thought possible, enabling continuous interactions between the physical and digital worlds. In a short time, we will be living in a blend of automation, artificial intelligence, digital interfaces and connected objects, but it will take an enormous amount of work to make this possible. This is where Reply intends to position itself as a niche player with very high technological capabilities.

Significant operations of the first half 2022

At the beginning of May, Reply signed an agreement for the acquisition, through its subsidiary Reply Deutschland SE, of 100% of FINCON Unternehmensberatung GmbH (www.fincon.eu) - a Leading German consultancy firm in digital transformation projects for the banking and insurance sector.

FINCON, based in Hamburg, is a consulting firm specializing in core processes and systems in the financial services sector, such as mobile banking, payments, banking CRM, internal control and compliance system, BIPRO and insurance systems. FINCON's clients include leading German banking and insurance institutions and most German Sparkasse.

The investment in FINCON is part of Reply's international growth strategy, particularly in Germany, a market where Reply is already a leader in consulting, system integration and digital services.

FINCON combines great expertise in banking and insurance processes with constant attention to technological innovation. With FINCON, Reply aims to expand its presence in the German banking and insurance sector.

The closing of the transaction, which was approved by the German Federal Competition Office in June, took place on 1 July.

Intergroup transactions and with related parties

During the period, there were no transactions with related parties, including intergroup transactions, which qualified as unusual or atypical. Any related party transactions formed part of the normal business activities of companies in the Group. Such transactions are concluded at standard market terms for the nature of goods and/or services offered, these transactions took place in accordance with the internal procedures containing the rules aimed at ensuring transparency and fairness, under Consob Regulation 17221/2010. The company in the notes to the financial statements and consolidated financial statements provides the information required pursuant to Art. 154-ter of the TUF [Consolidated Financial Act] as indicated by Consob Reg. no. 17221 of 12 March 2010, indicating that there were no significant transactions concluded during the period as defined by Art. 4, paragraph 1, let a) of the aforementioned regulation that have significantly affected the Group's financial or economic position. The information pursuant to Consob communication of 28 July 2006 are presented in the annexed tables herein.

Human resources

At June 30, 2022 the number of employees of the Group was 11,606 with an increase of 1,027 compared to December 31, 2021 and an increase of 1,958 resources compared to June 30, 2021.

EVENTS SUBSEQUENT TO 30 JUNE 2022

On July 1, the closing of the acquisition of 100% of the company FINCON took place; the initial agreement had been signed at the beginning of May.

Please refer to the paragraph "Significant operations of the first half 2022" for further information.

Outlook on operations

The current scenario is constantly evolving and it is still difficult to make predictions about the future in the short and medium term. The past months have, in any case, further amplified the demand for technology by all companies. Today even the most traditional and conservative have understood that the digitization of processes, the cloud and artificial intelligence are indispensable tools to restart and be competitive in an increasingly connected and digital world.

In the first half of 2022, the market, in particular, was characterized by a strong demand for digital, software and data engineering services. This evolution is further reinforced by the development of emerging cloud computing and IoT technologies. These services are at the heart of Reply's offer and characterise the great design activity of recent months. Added to this is a further area of growth driven by new applications related to the use of artificial intelligence and robotic automation, applied both to vehicles and connected objects and to business processes.

Specifically, the revolution linked to the introduction of artificial intelligence continues on a path of growth that promises to be disruptive. In a short time we will have an artificial intelligence application for everything, just as today we have a mobile app for every need. This transformation is irreversible and opens up new opportunities for Reply. Today, the availability of very high-speed networks allows the development of applications previously unthinkable, enabling continuous interactions between the physical and digital worlds. In a short time we will live in a combination of automation, artificial intelligence, digital interfaces and connected objects; however, it will take a great deal of ideation, design, development and integration to make this possible. This is where Reply intends to position itself, operating as a niche player, with a very high technological content.

In the coming months, in the absence of a resurgence of the pandemic, or a strong energy crisis, linked to the evolution of the conflict between Russia and Ukraine, a continuation of these trends and the related growth of the Company's activities and results is expected.

NOTE 2 - ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES AND BASIS OF CONSOLIDATION

Compliance with International accounting principles

The consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) issued by the International Accounting Standards Board and endorsed by the European Union. The designation "IFRS" also includes all valid International Accounting Standards ("IAS"), as well as all interpretations of the International Financial Reporting Interpretations Committee ("IFRIC"), formerly the Standing Interpretations Committee ("SIC"). Following the coming into force of European Regulation No. 1606 of July 2002, starting from 1 January, 2005, the Reply Group adopted International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS). The accounting principles applied are consistent with those used for preparation of the Consolidated Financial Statements at December 31, 2021.

More specifically the half year condensed consolidated financial statements at June 30, 2022 have been prepared in accordance to IAS 34 Interim financial reporting.

The Half-Year financial report has been prepared in accordance with Consob regulations regarding the format of financial statements, in application of art. 9 of Legislative Decree 38/2005 and other Consob regulations and instructions concerning financial statements.

GENERAL PRINCIPLES

The consolidated financial statements are prepared on the basis of the historic cost principle, modified as requested for the appraisal of some financial instruments for which the fair value criterion is adopted in accordance with IFRS 9.

The consolidated financial statements have been prepared on the going concern assumption. In this respect, despite operating in a difficult economic and financial environment, the Group's assessment is that no material uncertainties (as defined in paragraph 25 of IAS 1) exist with regards its ability to continue as a going concern.

These consolidated financial statements are expressed in thousands of Euros and are compared to the consolidated financial statements of the previous year prepared in accordance with the same principles.

Further indication related to the format of the financial statements respect to IAS 1 is disclosed here within as well as information related to significant accounting principles and evaluation criteria used in the preparation of the following consolidated report.

Financial statements

The consolidated financial statements include the statement of income, statement of comprehensive income, statement of financial position, statement of changes in shareholders' equity, statement of cash flows and the explanatory notes.

The income statement format adopted by the Group classifies costs according to their nature, which is deemed to properly represent the Group's business.

The Statement of financial position is prepared according to the distinction between current and non-current assets and liabilities. The statement of cash flows is presented using the indirect method.

The most significant items are disclosed in a specific note in which details related to the composition and changes compared to the previous year are provided.

51 | Half year financial report at 30 June 2022

It should be noted that in order to comply with the indications contained in Consob Resolution no. 15519 of 27 July 2006 "as to the format of the financial statements", additional statements: income statement and statement of financial position have been disclosed showing the amounts of related party transactions.

NEW STANDARDS, INTERPRETATIONS AND AMENDMENTS ADOPTED SINCE JANUARY 1ST, 2022

With regard to the accounting standards approved but not yet applicable or not yet approved by the European Union, please refer to the Annual Report as at 31 December 2021.

With regard to the standards issued by the IASB but not yet effective or not yet approved by the European Union, please refer to the Annual Report as at 31 December 2021.

NOTE 3 - RISK MANAGEMENT

CREDIT RISK

For business purposes, specific policies are adopted to assure its clients' solvency. With regards to financial counterparty risk, the Group does not present significant risk in credit-worthiness or solvency.

LIQUIDITY RISK

The group is exposed to funding risk if there is difficulty in obtaining finance for operations at any given point in time.

The cash flows, funding requirements and liquidity of the Group companies are monitored and centrally managed under the control of the Group Treasury. The aim is to guarantee the efficiency and effectiveness of the management of current and perspective capital resources (maintaining an adequate level of reserves of liquidity and availability of funds va a suitable amount of committed credit lines).

52 | Half year financial report at 30 June 2022

The difficult economic situation of the markets and of financial markets necessitates special attention being given to the management of the liquidity risk, and in that sense particular emphasis is being placed on measures taken to generate financial resources through operations and maintaining an adequate level of liquid assets. The Group therefore plans to meet its requirements to settle financial liabilities as they fall due and to cover expected capital expenditures by using cash flows from operations and available liquidity, renewing or refinancing bank loans.

EXCHANGE RATE AND INTEREST RATE RISK

The Group entered into most of its financial instruments in Euros, which is its functional and presentation currency. Although it operates in an international environment, it has a limited exposure to fluctuations in the exchange rates.

The exposure to interest rate risk arises from the need to fund operating activities and M&A and investments, as well as the necessity to deploy available liquidity. Changes in market interest rates may have the effect of either increasing or decreasing the Group's net profit/(loss), thereby indirectly affecting the costs and returns of financing and investing transactions.

The interest rate risk to which the Group is exposed derives from bank loans; to mitigate such risks, the Group, when necessary, has used derivative financial instruments designated as "cash flow hedges".

The use of such instruments is disciplined by written procedures in line with the Group's risk management strategies that do not contemplate derivative financial instruments for trading purposes.

FAIR VALUE ASSESSMENT HIERARCHY LEVELS

The IFRS 13 establishes a fair value hierarchy which classifies the input of evaluation techniques on three levels adopted for the measurement of fair value. Fair value hierarchy attributes maximum priority to prices quoted (not rectified) in active markets for identical assets and liabilities (Level 1 data) and the non-observable minimum input priority (Level 3 53 | Half year financial report at 30 June 2022 data). In some cases, the data used to assess the fair value of assets or liabilities could be classified on three different levels of the fair value hierarchy. In such cases, the evaluation of fair value is wholly classified on the same level of the hierarchy in which input on the lowest level is classified, taking account its importance for the assessment.

The levels used in the hierarchy are:

- Level 1 inputs are prices quoted (not rectified) in markets active for identical assets and liabilities which the entity can access on the date of assessment;
- Level 2 inputs are variable and different from the prices quoted included in Level 1 observable directly or indirectly for assets or liabilities;
- Level 3 inputs are variable and not observable for assets or liabilities.

The following table presents the assets and liabilities which were assessed at fair value on 30 June 2022, according to the fair value hierarchical assessment level.

| (thousand Euros) | Note | Level 1 | Level 2 | Level 3 |
|--|------|---------|---------|---------|
| Investments | 20 | - | - | 55,590 |
| Convertible loans | 21 | - | - | 1,914 |
| Financial securities | 21 | 28,113 | - | |
| Total financial assets | | 28,113 | - | 57,504 |
| Derivative financial liabilities (IRS) | 29 | | (1,045) | |
| Liabilities to minority shareholders | | - | - | 100,749 |
| and earn out | 28 | | | |
| Total financial liabilities | | - | (1,045) | 100,749 |

The valuation of investments in start-ups within the Internet of Things (IoT) business, through the acquisition of equity investments and through the issuance of convertible loans, is based on data not directly observable on active stock markets, and therefore falls under the fair value hierarchical Level 3.

The item Financial securities is related to securities listed on the active stock markets and therefore falls under the fair value hierarchical Level 1.

To determine the effect of interest rate derivate financial instruments Reply refers to evaluation deriving from third parties (banks and financial institutes). The latter, in the calculation of their estimates made use of data observed on the market directly (interest rates) or indirectly (interest rate interpolation curves observed directly): consequently, for the purposes of IFRS7 the fair value used by the Group for the exploitation of hedging derivatives contracts in existence as at 30 June re-enters under the hierarchy profile in level 2.

The fair value of Liabilities to minority shareholders and earn out was determined by Group management on the basis of the sales purchase agreements for the acquisition of the company's shares and on economic parameters based on budgets and plans of the purchased company. As the parameters are not observable on stock markets (directly or indirectly) these liabilities fall under the hierarchy profile in Level 3.

As at 30 June 2022, there have not been any transfers within the hierarchy levels.

| (thousand Euros) | 30/06/2022 | 31/12/2021 | Change |
|---------------------------------|------------|------------|---------|
| Employee severance indemnities | 32,724 | 35,417 | (2,693) |

Employee severance indemnities

The Employee severance indemnity represents the obligation to employees under Italian law (amended by Law 296/06) that has accrued up to 31 December 2006 and that will be settled when the employee leaves the company. In certain circumstances, a portion of the accrued liability may be given to an employee during his working life as an advance. This is 80 | Half year financial report at 30 June 2022 an unfunded defined benefit plan, under which the benefits are almost fully accrued, with the sole exception of future revaluations.

The procedure for the determination of the Company's obligation with respect to employees was carried out by an independent actuary according to the following stages:

- Projection of the Employee severance indemnity already accrued at the assessment date and of the portions that will be accrued until when the work relationship is terminated or when the accrued amounts are partially paid as an advance on the Employee severance indemnities;
- Discounting, at the valuation date, of the expected cash flows that the company will pay in the future to its own employees;
- Re-proportioning of the discounted performances based on the seniority accrued at the valuation date with respect to the expected seniority at the time the company must fulfil its obligations. In order to allow for the changes introduced by Law 296/06, the re-proportioning was only carried out for employees of companies with fewer than 50 employees that do not pay Employee severance indemnities into supplementary pension schemes.

Reassessment of Employee severance indemnities in accordance with IAS 19 was carried out "ad personam" and on the existing employees, that is analytical calculations were made on each employee in force in the company at the assessment date without considering future work force.

The actuarial valuation model is based on the so-called technical bases which represent the demographic, economic and financial assumptions underlying the parameters included in the calculation. In accordance with IAS 19, Employment severance indemnities at 30 June 2022 are summarized in the table below:

REVIEW REPORT ON CONSOLIDATED CONDENSED INTERIM FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

REVIEW REPORT ON CONSOLIDATED CONDENSED INTERIM FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

To the Shareholders of Reply SpA

Foreword

We have reviewed the accompanying consolidated condensed interim financial statements of Reply SpA and its subsidiaries (the "Reply Group") as of 30 June 2022, comprising the consolidated statement of financial position, consolidated statement of income, consolidated statement of comprehensive income, statement of changes in consolidated equity, consolidated statement of cashflows and related notes. The directors of Reply SpA are responsible for the preparation of the consolidated condensed interim financial statements in accordance with International Accounting Standard 34 applicable to interim financial reporting (IAS 34) as adopted by the European Union. Our responsibility is to express a conclusion on these consolidated condensed interim financial statements based on our review.

Scope of Review

We conducted our work in accordance with the criteria for a review recommended by Consob in Resolution No. 10867 of 31 July 1997. A review of consolidated condensed interim financial statements consists of making enquiries, primarily of persons responsible for financial and accounting matters, and applying analytical and other review procedures. A review is substantially less in scope than a full-scope audit conducted in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (ISA Italia) and, consequently, does not enable us to obtain assurance that we would become aware of all significant matters that might be identified in an audit. Accordingly, we do not express an audit opinion on the consolidated condensed interim financial statements.

Conclusion

Based on our review, nothing has come to our attention that causes us to believe that the consolidated condensed interim financial statements of the Reply Group as of 30 June 2022 are not prepared, in all material respects, in accordance with International Accounting Standard 34 applicable to interim financial reporting (IAS 34) as adopted by the European Union.
